microneedling: What is it?

Microneedling is a minimally invasive technique that creates thousands of epidermal micro-channels allowing active ingredients to pass through the skin. The micropunctures activate the release of growth factors and stimulate the wound healing process to produce collagen.

Stage 1: Many micro-punctures are made which in turn generate thousands of microchannels.

Stage 2: The micro-channels allow penetration of topically applied active ingredients.

Stage 3: the active ingredients reach the deepest skin layers maximising their effects.
